Crowds gathered at the foot of the Washington Monument in Washington on Wednesday at the start of the Poor People's "Solidarity Day" rally. A crowd of 40,000 persons was anticipated for the demonstration, the largest to date in the six weeks of the campaign to win concessions from Congress

Hearing On Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee postponed today until Thursday its meeting to consider a Johnson administration bill that would ban mail order sales of rifles and shotguns.

The postponement reportedly was ordered because the session conflicted with a meeting of the Republican Platform Committee headed by Senate Republian Leader Everett M. Dirksen. Dirksen is also the top-ranking minority member of the Judiciary Committee.

Both the Senate and the House Judiciary Committees will meet at the same time Thursday.

The Senate committee, for years a graveyard of such legislation, last rejected it 10 to 6 just a few hours before the April sniper-slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

But, against a backdrop of the Sen. Robert F. Kennedy assassination and a mounting public din, a clear majority now favors the bill and its chances are rated excellent-not only to reach the floor, but perhaps for quick passage, too.

The Judiciary subcommittee on juvile delinquency gave quick approval to the measure

The measure would go a step further than a section of the omnibus crime control bill passed and sent to the White House just after the Kennedy assassination. The omnibus bill would ban only mail order handgun sales which President Johnson criticized as too weak.

That bill also would provide for federal grants to strengthen state and local law enforcement and authorize under court permission police wiretapping. Another section is designed to overturn some recent Supreme Court decisions on admissibility of confessions and other evidence in federal criminal trials. The Johnson administration also opposed the wiretapping

The deadline for Johnson to sign or vote the omnibus bill is midnight tonight. If he takes no action, it automatically becomes Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, ranking minority member of the parent committee, said he foresaw no objection to reporting the measure favorably to the Senate.

Under committee rules, however, a single member could request that action be put off for a

No Extradition Fight, Says Attorney For Ray

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The attorney who tentatively has agreed to defend James Earl Ray says he does not plan to fight extradition which would return the accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to this country from England.

Arthur J. Hanes, a former FBI agent and former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., made the comment here late Tuesday as he boarded an airplane for Washington, D.C., to check on passport arrnagements for his upcoming trip to England.

He was accompanied by his son, 26-year-old Arthur J. Hanes Jr., who also is an attorney.

In an interview with Radio Station WSB, the elder Hanes was asked specifically if he intended to fight U.S. demands that Ray be returned to this country for trial in the King slaying.

"I'm not going over there for that purpose," Hanes said. "I do not expect to engage in those legal maneuverings.

He was asked, too, if he planned to request a chance of venue once Ray is returned to Memphis, Tenn., for trial.

"No sir, I will not," Hanes said. "I feel that the people of Memphis and the people of Tennessee are fair-minded and just- like most Americans. I feel that once they are presented the evidence and the testimony, coupled with the law the judge will charge them with, they will give a fair and just

Tipton Man Is Killed In Vietnam

TIPTON - Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lang of Tipton have been notified of the death of their son, Capt. James F. Lang, as the result of hostile action in Vietnam on April 28.

He was reported missing in action on that date and is the first Tipton serviceman to die in the Vietnam conflict.

He had been stationed in Vietnam since last February and received his flight wings in Enid, Okla., in 1964.

He was graduated from Tipton High School in 1959, attended San Diego State College for one year, and the University of Missouri at Columbia for three years, graduating in 1963 with a commission as second lieutenant in the Air Force.

Capt. Lang was born in Boonville, on Nov. 22, 1941. On Jan. 6, 1966, he was married to Miss Alice Cordero in El Paso, Surviving are his wife and son Gregory, of the home in El Paso, his parents and four sisters, Mrs. James Huhmann, Mrs. Pat Franken, Miss Paulette Lang and Miss Cathy Lang, all of Tipton; Mrs. Gordon Reintjes, Fairway, Kan.; three brothers, Pvt. Eugene Lang, Fort Leonard Wood, and Paul and David Lang, both of Tipton.

His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dueber, also of Tipton.

Big New York Upset Scored By McCarthy

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - U.S.Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy maintained an astounding margin over Kennedy and Humphrey forces today, although late re-turns from Tuesday's primary changed the figures slightly in the battle for New York State's Democratic presidential dele-

In overpowering the other troops, McCarthy evidently gave coattail strength for Paul O'Dwyer's seizure of the party's U.S. Senate nomination.

McCarthy harvested at least 51 of the 123 convention delegates in partial returns slowed by hand-counting of paper bal-

The count grew to a possible 24 for delegates pledged to the ideals of the late Robert F. Kennedy. Supporters of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey gained one, possible two. Uncommitted delegates garnered

The voting trend indicated that McCarthy would maintain the wide lead in delegates.

The surprise Senate victor was Paul O'Dwyer, a former city councilman and brother of former mayor of New York City. He defeated Eugene H. Nickerson, Nassau County executive who came into the race at the urging of Kennedy and Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, of upstate Ellenville, a Johnson-Humphrey administration supporter.

Among prominent candidates who won delegate berths for McCarthy were Jules Feiffer, the cartoonist, Theodore Bikel, the folk singer and actor, and Murray Kempton, the newspaper columnist.

In a phone call to O'Dwyer headquarters here, McCarthy said, "It's going to be very difficult for party leaders in New York to read the results and not

An O'Dwyer spokesman said later that McCarthy would make an unscheduled campaign visit to New York City late today, presumably to capitalize on the psychological lift the victory was expected to give his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

There was no immediate comment from the Humphrey camp. He had not mounted a major personal effort in the state.

McCarthy delegates were entered in 37 of the state's 41 congressional districts. Slates pledged to Humphrey ran in 25 and delegates pledged to Kenne-

While the Minnesota senator's feat impressed political observers, O'Dwyer's triumph was even more startling. He was expected to finish last in a threeway race but, running as a McCarthy adherent, managed to edge out the favored Nickerson.

Nickerson conceded defeat at 3:12 a.m., as O'Dwyer led by 18,500 votes. Resnick was running third.

With 12,306 of the state's 13,408 districts counted, O'Dwyer had 264,479 votes, Nickerson 248,092 and Resnick 214,270.

On the Republican side, supporters of Richard M. Nixon put up challengers for only 11 of the 82 delegate slots. The remaining 71 went automatically to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Of the 11, two in Queens went to Nixon, two in the Rochester

Envoys Trade Charges At Paris Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam accused the United States today of a lack of good faith in the Paris peace talks. Striking back, the U.S. delegation accused North Vietnam of a grotesque distortion of American aims in the conflict.

North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy told U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that the United States has been escalating its fight in spite of President Johnson's statement that he was de-escalating. He claimed the number of air strikes on territory of the North had gone up from 2,500 in March to 4,700 in May. Harriman called Thuy's speech "quite a strong attack" and indicated it had forced him to change his own statement in the meeting today—the ninth since May 13. Answering Thuy, he denounced "indiscriminate attacks and shelling of Saigon" by the enemy.

Harriman declared the United States wants to make peace on the basis of the Geneva accords of 1954. He sketched a five-point program which he said the United States favors.

The essence of the 14-year-old agreement which the United States advocated today, Harriman told Thuy, is "military disengagement, restoration of the status of the demilitarized zone, the renunciation of the use of force, international supervision, and elections free from coercion or outside interference.'

Harriman had said on going into the meeting that he planned to talk about the Geneva accords, which ended French rule in Vietnam and left the northsouth division. But he turned his speech in part to a counterattack after Thuy, who spoke first, had blasted the United States.

After Thuy declared air strikes has increased in total over his country, though the target area is limited, he accused the United States of increasing strength in Saigon and bombing residential areas.

"These facts," he told Harriman, "show that not only has the United States not shown good faith in bringing these official conversations in Paris to results, but it has even created obstacles preventing the conversations from making progress.'

Harriman said Thuy had (See ENVOYS, Page 4)

Special To Open

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -Gov. Warren E. Hearnes flies back from the Southern Governors' Conference tonight to put the finishing touches on the brief speech he plans for the opening of a special legislative session Thursday. The session will convene at 1:30 p.m. and the governor's five-minute speech will be read soon after that. He does not plan to deliver it in person. The session's major job will be to enact a capital improvement bill of about $34 million and state fiscal experts say the money is available. A similar bill failed in a special session last March because of opposition in the Senate on the grounds it would reduce the state's operating balance to a dangerously low level. Since then revenue collections have picked up.

Two other things will keep the special session busy, even though it is not expected to last more than a couple of weeks.

The House, on the recommendation of a special House com-mittee, will hear impeachment charges against Circuit Judge John D. Hasler of Ladue, who is under indictment on charges of improper conduct in the handling of a divorce case.

Thieu Sees Viets Taking Over War

HUE, Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu signed the general mobilization law today and said his government will not ask for more U.S. and other allied troops.

"The Vietnamese government intends to take over more responsibility," Thieu told newsmen after ceremonies marking Armed Forces Day. "We do not intend to ask the United States and the other allies for more troops." In the past, Thieu has said more troops were needed above to the regular and militia forces of South Vietnam, bringing their number to almost 875,000 by the end of next year. The law also makes 16 and 17-year-olds and men between 38 and 50 eligible for service in local self-defense units. More than 170,000 men already are members of these local forces. U.S. officials say the United States has agreed to equip some of the men. Thieu is expected to ask for more arms for the recruits on his visit to Washington, scheduled for July. Pursued By Marines

SAIGON (AP) - U.S. Marines, artillery and aircraft pursued a force of North Vietnamese regulars all day Tuesday through bomb-scarred valleys south of Khe Sanh and killed 128 of the enemy, the U.S. Command reported today. Moving in at 3 a.m. under cover of a mortar barrage, the North Vietnamese probed for a weak spot in the defenses around a Marine position nine miles south of the combat base in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Unable to penetrate the Leathernecks' lines, the enemy withdrew and the Marines went on the attack. With artillery and air strikes clearing an explosive path before them, the ground troops maintained contact until nearly dusk. Then the North Vietnamese broke away.

It was the second big battle in the Khe Sanh area in four days. On Saturday, North Vietnamese troops tried unsuccessfully to overrun another Marine field

Find No Cases Of Starvation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some of the indigent population in New Madrid County, Mo., are suffering from an improper diet, but there are no known instances of starvation, the county health officer told the House Agriculture Committee.

"This is through lack of education rather than lack of adequate food supplies," David A. Townsend said.

Townsend said he also has no knowledge of any continuing cases of New Madrid County residents being unable to obtain an adequate supply of food.

"This problem is being dealt with in a most excellent manner under the auspices of the Missouri University Extension Service under a federal grant through the employment of homemaker aides who make regular home visits to those families receiving commodity foods and instruct them in their proper preparation," he said. New Madrid County was one of 256 counties in the United States listed by a private study as emergency hunger areas.

Townsend's reply to questions posed by Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the Agriculture Committee, was released Monday. It was the only letter from Missouri included in the committee's publication of letters received from 181 of the 256 counties named.

'Creative Localism' Is Urged

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) -Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri told fellow Southern governors Tuesday states should give their urban areas greater authority to manage their own Hearnes, in a prepared speech, recommended "creative localism" under which states would give their metropolitan centers the constitutional power, legal authority and "creative imagination" to solve their own problems.

"Many alternative ways have been proposed by which this could be done," Hearnes added. "Home rule charters can be created. More authority can be given to counties. Metropolitan government can be fostered."

"Archaic state constitutions inhibit attempts to solve interlocal and area-wide problems, restrict the taxation and borrowing power of local governments, and thus have fostered an undesired local dependency on the distant federal government." Hearnes declared.

"The racial crisis which plagues our riot torn cities is demonstrating in an all too profound way the need for us to take a fresh look at urban areas, to thoroughly investigate and analyze the nature of our problems, and to vigorously implement whatever thoughtful and imaginative policies he may decide

Hearnes said he thinks many ing alley. of the problems of urban areas are focused around the key problem of employment.

He said if a man makes a decent income, he can "solve his own problem, provide a sound home environment that is fundamental for the education of his children, and pay taxes to the local government instead of draining its tax revenues." The conference was picketed by young Negroes who bore signs accusing host Gov. Robert McNair of being "a murderer."

Seven Negroes walked in front of the Francis Marion Hotel for about 30 minutes to protest the fatal shooting of three Negro students at Orangeburg Feb. 8 and the wounding of more than 30 others.

Service stations are probably the hardest hit. At the Ralph Hamlin & Son Shell Station, it was reported the firm had a few rough days, but asphalt was poured in the area of the station Monday, so business is fast returning to normal.

Ken Schreiner at Schreiner's Service Station said the first three weeks of the construction period cost him about fourfifths of his business. "At first they placed boards beside the pavement for three weeks. Motorists simply would not drive over the boards to get to the station. Ralph Huff of IGA said his store has not suffered "yet." He explained that his store has not been cut off, but will be later on. He is making provisions for entrance to his lot from routes other than off Highway 50. One business, the Coast-To-Coast Store, is making a permanent entrance change. The building is too close to the new roadway to have parking in front. The store is making the main entrance off State Fair, instead of Broadway, with parking in the back of the store.

A chain of circumstances has caused some concern about the asphalt portion of the project, but with the hoising engineers' strike ending Monday, this concern has abated.

The Howard Construction Co. prime contractor, is using its asphalt equipment on North Highway 65, and has subcontracted the asphalt work on West Broadway to the Menefee Construction Co. Menefee was hit by the strike, so work on this portion of the project was delayed for some time. With the end of the strike, work is now proceeding. Howard was not hit by the strike so concrete work was not interrupted.

Olen Howard said he hoped the roadway would be cleared by State Fair time, but he doubted if the work would be complete.

Businessmen in general agreed that some inconvenience must accompany the improvement, which will bring better business conditions in the future.

Kennedy's Staff Still Numb nedy. Letters to and from Fred WASHINGTON (AP) - In Suite 3327 of the New Senate Office Building, the stacks of neatly labeled cartons are growing higher. Someday all the papers and books will be packed. Then the people who work there will have to leave. But they don't like to think about that day.

For members of Robert F. Kennedy's Senate staff, ties with the past are still too strong to permit intrusion by thoughts of the future.

Melody Miller is a receptionist in Suite 3327. She had worked for Kennedy since his election in "Our lives were always predicated on his needs," she said. "We're not ready to start thinking about pounding the pavement looking for jobs. We're not even ready to accept the reality that we'll have to go to work somewhere else.

Since Robert Kennedy died from an assassin's bullet on June 6-two weeks ago Thursday-more than 100 offers of employment for his staff have been received at the Senate office. In addition, many members of Congress have offered jobs to individual staff members

So far, none of the offers has been accepted.

"I worked for a man in whom I believed totally," said Hugh McDonald, an assistant press aide. "Now there's this void. I feel so empty. I just couldn't go to work for anybody else now.'

There has been speculation this week that Kennedy's chief press aide, Frank Mankiewicz, would oppose Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles in that city's 1970 election. Mankiewicz said in an interview that "friends" had suggested it to him.

"I find it very flattering," he said. "But I haven't begun to think about that sort of thing. I certainly don't turn it down out of hand but it's much too early to make any decision.

Administrative assistant Joe Dolan and legislative assistant Peter Edelman aren't thinking about the future yet, nor is speech writer Adam Walinsky.

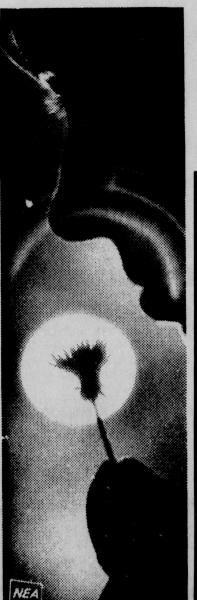

"I worked for Bob Kennedy," Walinsky said. "It was intensely personal. I couldn't do it for anyone else. I don't think it could ever be the same with anyone else. I just don't know what I'll do.

Kennedy's personal secretary of 11 years, Angie Novello, spends most of her days going through books and papers.
"I want to make sure that everything is all sorted out right so that if anything is ever done with them, they'll be in order," she said.

She too has given very little thought to another job.

In Kennedy's private office, there is a box of papers on the tan leather couch labeled: "RFK handwritten misc notes. Lady Harlech's funeral. Christening of the USS John F. Ken-

Reading Club For Children At the Library

The children's summer reading program is now in session at the Sedalia Public Library, and all children between the ages of 6 through 13 may still sign up.

The theme this year is "Busy Bee" Reading Club. To complete the program, each child is required to read 10 books of his own choice. A record is kept, and upon completion the child will receive a certificate from the library and recognition sticker his reader's card. Completion certificates will be given out at a party which will be held August 26 Season tickets to the Arrow Rock Lyceum are also available at the library.

Hospitality Gets Employe in Dutch

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) -An employe at the hotel where the Southern Governors Conference is being held took advantage of host Gov. Robert Mc-Nair's hospitality Tuesday.

Security agents arrested the man after seeing him tiptoe suspiciously out of the governor's hospitality room. He was charged with petty larceny for lifting a bottle of whisky.

Associate Municipal Judge I. M. Goldberg suspended sentence, saying "Who would have ever thought that our governor would have liquor in his hospitality room?"

Corneas From Baboons Are More Suitable

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) - Baboons offer a better chance of successful cornea transplants to human beings than other animals such as pigs or sheep, a doctor at Cape Town University's Medical School said Tuesday.

He was commenting on the announcement here Monday night that a cornea from the eye of a baboon had been transplanted to a human—believed to be the world's first such transplant. The cornea is the transparent part of the coating of the eyeball which covers the iris and admits light to the interior of the eye.

The doctors, whose name may not be used because of South African medical ethics, said cornea transplants from pigs and sheep to humans have been performed in other countries but have been unsuccessful.

It will not be known for another five months whether Monday's cornea graft is completely successful, he added.

Toll Route As Feasible

SPRINGFIELD, III. (AP)-A report stating it was economically feasible to build a toll road from Chicago to Kansas City, Mo., was presented to Illinois Gov. Samuel H. Chapin Tuesday by a committee of Quincy, Ill., men. The cost was estimated at $316.6 million.

Shapiro did not commit himself on the proposal, but concluded the hearing by saying, "Nothing is impossible.

In Illinois, where the road would run in a corridor from Chicago to the Quincy area, the cost would be $167.8 million. In Missouri, where the road would run in a corridor from the Hannibal area to Kansas City, the cost would be $148.8 million.

Top 'Bright' Stories Win

In a Contest

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A story about the City of St. Louis Civil Defense program having to junk leaky water cans due to rust was the winning short bright in May's contest among Missouri Associated Press newswriters.

The story by Al Delugach of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat was rated by judges as the top brite in the state.

Second went to Norman Steward of the St. Joseph News-Press who wrote about a motorist hauled into court after he had painted his car black, including the license plate. Third was the story by Jack Wolf of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that told of J. Robert Devous handing out flowers to pedestrians in downtown St. Louis and asking them to call his wife as he celebrated his 20th wedding anniversary.

Ralph Huff Is New Chamber Director

Ralph Huff, 1611 West 13th, became a new director on the Chamber of Commerce board, succeeding the Rev. George Sparling who has moved to Liberty. Huff, the next in line on the Chamber slate at the spring election, was welcomed and there will be a parade of to the board Tuesday afternoon, June 18, at the regular monthly board meeting by Thomas T.

Keating, president. The board voted to send a resolution to Rev. Sparling commending him for his services to the city for the past six years while he was pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church and to the Chamber of Commerce as director.

The budget has been set by the finance committee at $24,000 and was approved by the board. The amounts for the various committees were announced.

Keating read the prepared budget which included the cost of the Chamber building operation and business office. He discussed the Christmas parade which will cost about $800 and Santa's visit to all the shopping areas on that day. The Christmas home lighting contest is also provided for. This year, Keating explained, the Chamber will not collect for the downtown Christmas decorations, as that area will have its own organization which will collect from merchants and others in the downtown area on a footage basis

A committee was appointed by Keating composed of Louis Hughes, Jr., Dan Robinson and J. L. Mathewson for the purpose of planning the modernization of the Chamber building.

Mathewson commented that he felt the planting of flowers in front of the building replacing the partly dead evergreens was quite an improvement.

James Callis of the retail merchants committee reported on the recent Sedalia Market Days and stated that the reaction was good. Huff remarked that anything done to unite the city is good and the theme of "Market City" ties everyone in.

William Hiatt of the agriculture division told of the promise of the Chamber for 40 buyers of baby beef at the 4-H baby beef sale to be held Aug. 6. Gary Cooper, executive manager of the Chamber, stated that the Chamber was again working to get buyers for the baby beef to encourage the young 4-H members, which they also did last year. Dr. C. W. Monsees had informed the Chamber that it wasn't necessary to be at the sale to Hiatt also mentioned the Mid-West Ram and Stud Show and Sale which will be held here Friday and Saturday. A trophy will be presented by the Chamber Friday night.

Mathewson, public relations and conventions committee, suggested that an ad be taken by the Chamber in the horse show program at the Missouri

Cooper had with him some of the Sedalia brochures. The Chamber discussed how these should be handled. After one was given to each Chamber member, the others might be sold at a nominal price. The books are very attractive and give the Sedalia story. Through a printing error there are a couple of pictures that are not Sedalia pictures, but on the whole the brochure is something of which Sedalians may be proud.

Another new project of the Chamber, Cooper stated, is handling blueprints of various architects. The blueprints of buildings are being sent by the architects to the Chamber office where contractors may check them out and study them to make their bids. This is quite a time saver and a real accomodation to the Mathewson suggested that the Chamber send letters of welcome to the four Shrine Temples over the state which are planning a large celebration on Thursday and Friday nights at the Missouri State fair. About 5,000 Shriners will participate about 2,000 on the race track. Attending the board meeting were: Thomas T. Keating, president; Gary Cooper, executive manager; Mrs. Vivian Warren, treasurer; Carl Yates, Jr., immediate past president; Herbert Taylor, William Hiatt, James Callis, James Edwards, J. L. Mathewson, Ralph Huff, Dr. A. R. Maddox, Cliff Barr, and Bill Burkholder, directors.

King delivered his famous "I have a dream" speech from the Lincoln Memorial during the 1963 civil rights march. That speech served as the inspiration for today's demonstration.

Despite promises from campaign leader The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy that there would be no civil disobedience and marchers would conduct themselves in "the finest nonviolent tradition," law enforcement officials took no chances. About 4,300 police and nation-

Thuy's formal statement became available before the closed-door meeting ended. He thus ignored Harriman's proposal at the previous session to stop releasing formal statements as a step toward cutting down propaganda and making the conversations more serious.

At one point he struck back indirectly at Harriman's protest last week against the Viet Cong bombardment of the heart of Saigon with rockets. He said the United States had added to troop strength and bombed residential districts in the city.

Thuy renewed his demand, set forth in three points, that the United States halt all attacks on North Vietnamese territory.

Lords Cause Laborite Uproar Despite the Lords' 193-184 vote assume they have 350 party

LONDON (AP) - More than 50 Laborites in the House of Commons signed motions today calling for abolition of the House of Lords after Conservatives in the upper chamber mustered a small majority to reject the Labor government's order for a total trade boycott against Rhodesia.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson was expected to indicate Thursday whether the government would support the campaign. The chief question was whether Wilson would jettison all-party negotiations which have been under way to make the largely hereditary upper chamber more of a senate of elected and-or appointed elders

Some political commentators believed the talks would be abandoned and the Laborites would push through legislation to create an elected senate. Others recalled that talk of abolishing the Lords is as old as the century and predicted that the negotiations would continue as before

Tuesday night, the government's order for tougher sanctions against the rebellious African territory can be renewed from month to month. And Conservative leaders of the upper house said that having made their point, they would not oppose the order when it comes before them again next month.

For political commentators, the big surprise was the size of the vote mustered by the government, which nominally has only 110 supporters among the more than 1,000 members of the Lords. The slender nine-vote majority against the government was virtually a moral victory for Wilson.

Of the 110 Laborite peers, about 85 actually voted. They were supported by eight Conservatives defying their own party leaders, 20 Liberals about 50 independents, 18 bishops led by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the only Communist in Parliament, Lord Milford The Conservatives generally members in the Lords, plus the support of hundreds of nonpolitical peers who would turn up to vote on an issue that really moved them-such as a bill to abolish pheasant shooting. This time, many Conservatives stayed home or went to theopening of the Royal Ascot race meeting. However, one peer reported meeting two uncles he thought were dead.

The Conservatives insisted their opposition to tougher sanctions against Rhodesia did not constitute approval of the white minority government. They contended that a stiffer

British stand would rule out any negotiated settlement with the white Rhodesians, who declared independence from Britain Nov. 11, 1965; that the Labor government no longer has a mandate for such action because of its recent election setbacks, and that Britain has lost control of a British issue to the United Nations

Candidate Pays Visit To Sedalia

Jim Shaffer, Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor, visiting here Tuesday, said that Missourians are seeking dynamic new leadership in solving the problems of the state.

Shaffer said his conversations with people here and throughout Missouri reveal a deep insight into these problems, and a maturity of judgement among people judging the candidates and their qualifications.

'The office of Lt. Governor should be one of action and decisiveness," note Shaffer, 41, 'and I pledge to provide the kind of leadership that the people will expect of the next Lt. Governor.

Shaffer resigned as Jackson County Democratic Chairman to seek the August 6 nomination for Lt. Governor. He had been swept into the public eye as voters overwhelmingly endorsed the progressive and modern reforms of Judge Charles E. Curry, an early Shaffer supporter.

Signatures For Wallace Are Returned

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick rejected today the first 13 signatures submitted in an effort to get former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace on the Missouri ballot.

He said the one-sheet petition would be returned to Edsel Dawson of Hayti because petitions must be bound in book form and the first batch of signatures was not submitted at the proper time.

The single petition was in duplicate - one page to get Wallace on the ballot and one to establish the American Party of Missouri as a third party.

Under the law such petitions must carry about 18,000 signatures representing 1 per cent of the voters from all of the state's 10 congressional districts or 2 per cent from half the districts. They must be filed not more than 85 days or less than 78 days before the general election —sometime in mid-August.

Another New Home, Another New Life

Surveying Her Home

Standing before her new home, Mrs. Thomas Hall, wife of the new Wesley Methodist minister, looks across her yard to Broadway. "I don't like goodbyes," she says. "We try to say we'll see you again, and we usually do."

By: JENNIFER WARD

Mrs. Thomas Hall has two qualities that are essentials in her profession: she laughs a lot and makes friends easily. You have to if you're the wife of a Methodist minister who is always on the move.

During her 27 years of marriage to Dr. Thomas Hall, the new Wesley Methodist minister who has recently moved to Sedalia, Esther Hall has set up housekeeping in Ashland, Armstrong, Avondale, Savannah, Tarkio, Fayette, Maryville and now at 1321 West Broadway.

A copy of Michaelangelo's statue of Moses sits in her living room, one of the family possessions that moves to all their new residences, gives the houses a familiar air.

"I think you miss your old friends but I think you'll find new ones," Mrs. Hall says. She has grown accustomed to moving to strange towns and facing strange congregations. Her three children also have acquired a bit of 'gypsy blood', adapting easily to joining new schools and making new friends. "They expect it," Mrs. Hall explained.

Is her family lonely and a little lost when they first move? Yes, she admits, it takes at least a year before the family really knows a community.

To feel at home in new surroundings, family possessions are a must, and to Mrs. Hall, who enjoys collecting unusual pieces to display in her home, its second nature to pull out of the newspapers and boxes her favorite Ming tree display that features a tiny Japanese woman cleaning fish, or set up the family antique chair with carved figures on the arms. An unusual conversation piece is a gadget that resembles an umbrella holder. A closer look, and it still isn't possible to tell what it is. Mrs. Hall, however, says it's her mother's butter churn.

Perhaps traveling is just in the Halls blood, for when they are not setting up new residence in a Missouri community, they are on the go to Miami, Fla., where Mrs. Hall unwillingly sprouts a face of freckles, or they journey into Canada.

Office hours for a minister are a little varied, and getting meals on the table for a 9 to 5 routine is not in Mrs. Hall's schedule. "It's hard to know when you're caught up," she explains. "You can never get the feeling you've worked your eight hours and you're through for the day."

Aside from filling the biggest job, by making every place "seem at home," Mrs. Hall likes to entertain and loves to surprise her family with a menu of unusual dishes. The most compliments she receives from her family are usually on a Spanish rice dish or her frozen fruit salad.

Brought up in a United Church of Christ family, Mrs. Hall finds it relatively easy to meet the people of the Methodish Church. She's a Methodist now.

Ministers' wives are more readily accepted in a community she believes, and the people of Sedalia seem "really friendly," she added.

It's another new life for Mrs. Hall, but she and her family will continue to make friends and adjust, as they always do.

POWDER LINE By Jennifer Ward

After cooking all winter I think the summer months are a good time to ask your husband to show off his talent and give you a little time to rest. Father's Day is over now, and the time has come for the man of the house to don his chef's hat and address himself to the outdoor grill, fortified with some new recipes for cooking his favorite item, beefsteak, all the way from filet to flank

Some good advice to tell your chef comes from the Saddle and Sirloin, a century old restaurant in Chicago's Stock Yard Inn. For excellent results the outdoor charcoal expert should start with the best steak he can buy. U.S. Choice is a good suggestion for outdoor cookery. Steaks should be removed from freezers several hours before being grilled. The bed of charcoal should be allowed to burn down to about half its contents and half show no red glow, only a gray ash.

Six good general rules are: First, steaks are best at about 11/2 inches thick. Second, they should be put on the fire carefully so as not to puncture meat surface. Third, they should cook slowly at first, with no flames. Then if searing is desired, lower meat closer to the flame and allow to flare up for a bout a minute on each side. Fourth, the degree of doneness is the most difficult state to judge. The expert broiler chef can tell the degree of doneness by pressing meat surface with his thumb or finger. The average cooking time would be about eight minutes on the first side and five minutes on the second side. It's also wise for the beginner to make a test cut, which does, however, allow juices and blood to escape. Fifth, seasoning of any type should only be used after the steak is cooked. Salt used before cooking will draw juices out of the steak. Sixth, steaks should never be charred, just the grill marks should

Other popular techniques for cooking steak include wrapping the steak in a salt paste and broiling slowly, smearing the surface with mustard and sugar to get a really black char, or rubbing steak with olive oil, salt, pepper and garlic one half hour before broiling.

Women of the younger generations have a wider selection of stylish fashions to choose from today than ever before in fashion's history. Women passing their 39th birthday through the golden years of 60 and 70, however, are finding it more difficult to find suitable clothes for any

To travel to the beach, our stores are stocked with bikinis and psychedelic suits featuring cut out midriffs and sides. The 'all there' one piece suits come in such way out colors a middle aged woman would look a little like she was trying to recapture her youth in such attires.

Many stores gear their merchandise to mainly the youthful buyers. One woman complained that even when she found a dress she liked, it was always too short.

Agreed, many women past their 40th birthdays are still very fashion conscious and many women can find the clothes to suit their taste, usually in a more expensive bracket. Not all women are rebellious of the modern looks and creations, but those that do feel out of place in a mini should also be offered a wide selection of clothes that play up older figures and compliment faces. The only alternative in sight for the older woman of today may be to go all out; buy a midi or maxi!

A mother who constantly taxis her children to the pool during the summer complained that the city pool is usually cluttered with bugs and leaves that float amid the swimmers. Anyone agree with her?

Anniversary of Longest War in US History

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in Vietnam becomes the longest war in American history next Sunday. Six years, six months, one day.

Three days before Christmas in 1961, James Thomas Davis, an amiable Tennessean who used to stuff hoot owls as a hobby, pitched headlong onto a road near Saigon. He was the first American soldier killed by Viet Cong bullets.

Men will argue, as they do in every war where surprise attack or declaration are lacking, about when the war actually began. After all, America has been involved in Vietnam for a quarter century, most intimately since that country was divided in 1954.

But Tom Davis—no one called him by his first name-died in combat Dec. 22, 1961. The tragedy of another American war be-

Longer than the six years, six months of the American war of Independence. That war began with a skirmish at Lexington, Mass., April 19, 1775, and terminated with the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, Oct. 19, 1781—two years before the peace treaty actually was signed Longer than the four years of the Civil War. That began April 12, 1861, when the guns of the South fired on Fort Sumter and ended April 9, 1865, when Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox.

Longer than the three years and nine months of World War II: the three years and one month of Korea; the two years and six months of the War of 1812. Longer than any of the campaigns in the Indian wars.

Officially, Americans were military advisers to South Vietnam before Spec. 4 Davis and nine South Vietnamese were killed in an ambush and, officially. Americans remained advisers for nearly three more vears. But young Tom Davis was, in President Johnson's words, "the first American to fall in defense of our freedom in Vietnam

James Clarence Davis, a drug store owner in Livingston, Tenn., was like a lot of Americans. He didn't know where Vietnam was-or what it wasuntil young Americans began going there in increasing numbers-by the hundreds at first in the 1950s, by the hundreds of thousands in the 1960s.

Vietnam is an S-shaped land, hugging the coast line of the South China Sea, south of the Chinese mainland. Its people have known war from the centuries before Christ, when Vietnamese tribesmen settled in the Red River Delta area.

In the 17th century came the first Roman Catholic missionaries from France and by the late 1800s. French forces had gained. control not only of Vietnam, but also Laos and Cambodia-the divisions that made up French

Then came World War II and Japanese occupation. Before the French could reassert their authority after that war, Ho Chi Minh and his Communists had formed a separate government in North Vietnam. France fought Ho's troops bitterly from 1946 until 1954 when the Communists defeated them in the bloody siege of Dien Bien Phu.

As far back as 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt had criticized French rule. He was determined tht the country should have an international trusteeship. It did not come to pass.

On Dec. 23, 1950, the United States agreed to give France indirect U.S. military aid in Southeast Asia. It followed that in September 1951 with an agreement with Vietnam for direct economic assistance.

Then came 1954 and 16,000 French casualties at Dien Bien Phu. Pierre Mendes-France became premier of France on a promise to negotiate peace. The resulting Geneva Conference partitioned Vietnam into two countries with a demilitarized zone along the 17th parallel sep-

It also imposed regulations on foreign military bases and personnel and on increased armaments, called for countrywide elections leading to reunification to be held by July 20, 1956. and set up an international control commission to see that the accords were carried out.

Neither the United States nor South Vietnam signed the agreements, but the United States promised to "view any renewal of the aggression ... with grave concern and as seriously threatening international peace and

Just as the Geneva conference was ending, Ngo Dinh Diem was appointed South Vietnam's premier. One million refugees began flowing to South Vietnam from the North, including a strong contingent of dedicated, trained Communists

In the fall of 1954 Diem asked for United States assistance and on Oct. 22, President Dwight D. Eisenhower ordered a crash program to strengthen the Diem regime. One week later, the United States declared its intention to give direct aid.

American officials "assumed that if Diem refused to hold the elections that North Vietnam would attack." Williams says. But when the attack didn't take place "I came to the conclusion -and we always stated in our briefings although I'm not sure we ever convinced Washington -that there would never be any invasion from North Vietnam until after South Vietnam was in the throes of a tremendous guerrilla war. And that prophecy happened to turn out correct-

After that the Viet Cong -Communist guerrillas in South Vietnam — began their terrorist attacks in mid-1957

On Oct. 2, 1961, Diem declared: "It is no longer a guerrilla war we have to face, but a real war waged by an enemy who attacks us with regular units." He followed that 16 days later by proclaiming a state of emergency.

The situation worsened. President Kennedy sent his personal military adviser. Gen. Maxwell B. Taylor, to Vietnam to investigate. On Dec. 8, 1961, the State Department said South Vietnam was threatened by "clear and present danger" of Communist conquest. Fourteen days later Tom Davis was killed.

On Feb. 8, 1962, the United States reorganized its South Vietnam military assistance group-which by then totaled 1.500 advisers—into a command under four-star Gen. Paul Donal Harkins, who now lives in retirement in Dallas.

In a television interview on Sept. 2, 1963, President Kennedy called the repressions of the Buddhists "very unwise" but said he thought the government could regain support "with changes in policy and perhaps with personnel."

"That indicated to Diem that attack against the forces of the

On Nov. 1, 1963, the key generals of the South Vietnamese armed forces laid siege to Diem's palace in Saigon. Diem and Nhu fled but were caught and assassinated by rebels.

Gen. Harkins, who was a friend of Diem in that turbulent time, says:

"After the Diem demise things got a little worse out in the country and we could see that the Vietnamese weren't able to hold their own; this is when the Americans started to come in and they went into the search and clear (operations) and search and destroy with larger organizations.

Still. Americans were advisers-teachers of defense as well as helpmates in building South Vietnam so it would have the internal strength to resist Communist takeover.

Then came August 1964 and the events in the Gulf of Tonkin that changed America to a warrior. The destroyers Maddox and C. Turner Joy were attacked by North Vietnamese PT boats, the United States retaliated with a massive air strike against their bases and President Johnson got congressional authority "to take all necessary measures to repel any armed

Mrs. Michael Robertson

An Afternoon Ceremony Unites Beth Diehl, Michael Robertson

Trinity Methodist Church in her maternal grandmother, Mountain Grove, was the scene at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 26, for the marriage of Miss Beth Anne Diehl and Michael Boyd Rob-

The former Miss Diehl is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Diehl and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Robertson, all of Mountain Grove. The bride is a graduate of the Knob Noster High School and the Rev. Diehl was pastor of the Knob Noster Methodist Church.

The double ring vows were performed by the bride's father before the altar centered with a tiered arrangement of white candles centered with a sunburst of pink and white daisies and greenery. Spiral candelabra, baskets of pink and white daisies and potted palms completed the altar decorations. Family pews were marked with pink and white

Organist, Mrs. Russell Young, played traditional nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. William Cunningham when she sang, "Because" and "One Hand, One Heart." She also accompanied Dick Diehl, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the close of the ceremony.

The candles were lighted by Misses Cheryl and Jennifer Grav, nieces of the groom, who wore street length empire style gowns of moss green avanti with pink trim. They had headpieces of pink bows with illusion circular veils and wrist corsages of pink daisies.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother, Dick, was dressed in a floor length gown of candlelight silk organza with re-embroidered Alencon lace outlining a redingote front. The gown featured elbow length sleeves, a rounded neckline and a chapel length train that fell from the back shoulders. The neck, sleeves and train were also adorned with the Alencon lace appliques The bride's three tier elbow length bouffant veil of candlelight English silk illusion was held by a crown of pearlized flowers and jewels. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink cymbidium orchids, pink sweetheart roses and white stephanotis on a white Bible, which was a childhood gift from

Mrs. H. B. Mefford of Joplin. The bride's only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Fred Morris Jr., sister of the groom, served as matron of honor and wore a floor length gown of moss green Avanti designed on Empire lines with pink embroidered trim. A pink bow held a short circular veil and she had matching pink shoes. She carried a basket filled with pink daisies and greenery.

Bridesmaids, Misses Cathy McNerney of Carthage and Bonnie Dunbar of Warrensburg had identical ensembles except the bodices of their gowns were Mark Morris, nephew of the groom, carried the rings on a white satin heart-shaped pillow.

Serving as best man was Pat Robertson, twin brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Fred Morris Jr., brother-in-law of the groom and George Current of Nevada. Ushering the guests were David Norman and Stephen Norman of Ava, and Sam Exline of Great Bend, Kan., cousins of the groom; Scott Brooks of Fayette, cousin of the bride; and John Maxwell of Kansas City.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Diehl chose an aqua ensemble of antigua with a matching hat and pink accessories. She wore a pink orchid shoulder corsage.

Mrs. Robertson, mother of the groom, selected a blue-gray silk dress trimmed with white lace, matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Three of the couple's grandmothers were present for the wedding: Mrs. H. B. Mefford of Joplin, Mrs. Sam Exline of Ava, and Mrs. Cameron Diehl of Mountain Grove. They all had white gardenia corsages.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church Fellowship Hall.

The bride's table, covered in white satin, was centered with a three-tiered - white wedding cake decorated with pale pink roses, wedding bells and white lilies of the valley. Topping the cake were white wedding bells. one of which had been used at the wedding of the bride's

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, chose an empire Aline gown of peau de soie. The bodice featured a scooped neckline covered with lace and long bell shaped lacy sleeves. Lace extended from the bodice front to the back forming a detachable lace train. Her illusion veil fell from a white rise set upon a peau de soie leaf plateau.

Maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Moon, Otterville, sister of the bride, was dressed in an apricot peau de soie street length A-line ensemble with short sleeves. Her headdress was a matching circlet veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of mums and

Rockefeller Hits Nixon With Election Records

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. to the GOP national convention Nelson A. Rockefeller is beginning to use a new campaign weapon-comparing election records-in his effort to overtake Richard M. Nixon in the race for the Republican nomination for president

A Rockefeller campaign placard trumpets, "He has never lost an election.

Nixon, of course, was defeated in his last two races, for president in 1960 and for governor of California in 1962. Rockefeller cites their respective showings in heavily Democratic New York City. He said in New Jersey Tuesday that Nixon lost the city in 1960 by 791,000 votes whereas he lost it in 1966 by only 70,000.

The governor pointed out to Republican congressional leaders that in 1962, he polled 395,000 more votes than the combined total cast for New York candidates for Congress. He said Nixon, running for governor of California that year had 147,000 fewer votes than the total for congressional candidates there.

Rockefeller is elated over the results of a poll taken in another predominantly Republican city, Philadelphia, late last week. It showed him running ahead of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, 47.4 per cent to 46.3

"Look at the record," Rockefeller told newsmen. "Nixon lost Philadelphia by 300,000 in 1960 and (Sen. Barry) Goldwater by 400,000 in '64.

The use of these election statistics is designed, of course, to persuade Republican delegates that Rockefeller has drawn more votes from Democrats and independents than Nixon. Since the Republicans are the minority party nationally, their candidate must do this to win the presidency in November.

After meeting with Republican senators and congressmen in Washington Tuesday, Rockefeller said. "It looks a lot better now than when I saw them the last time.'

That was in 1964, when he was a candidate for the nomination for president.

The atmosphere is different this time," he said. "You can tell when politicians are doing something out of politeness. This time I felt they were interested.

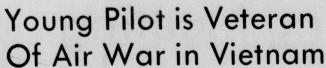

Rockefeller met with the New Jersey delegation after he left Washington. As in other such meetings, he discussed issues and answered questions.

The 40-man delegation is uncommitted. However, some New Jersey politicians said they believed 28 delegates favor Rockefeller and 12 are for Nixon.

Rockefeller takes his campaign today into Ohio-a state that could be crucial in his drive for the nomination.

It has 58 delegates. At the moment, they are united behind Gov. James A. Rhodes as the favorite son. He has said they would go to the convention uncommitted.

The first national political convention in the United States was held in 1831 by the shortlived Anti-Mason Party.

That was three weeks ago and Dadson is now a veteran, joking in the squadron's ready room deep in the ship's humming interior and casually settled into the hazardous routine of a wartime cruise. He flies the A6 Intruder, the most sophisticated, electronics-packed jet the Navy has, and is proud that out of 76 men in his flight class he was the only one to get an Intruder.

"I knew I was being trained as a weapons system," he says. 'I didn't mind it one bit. I wanted to get over here and do my part. Peace—sure I hope we can have peace. But until that time I think that what I am doing is

The target was a heavily defended road complex. The tracers started coming up, bright and lethal, as the Intruders rolled in, led by the squadron commander. Lt. Cmdr. Jerry Clyde Patterson, a combat veteran of 38 from Phoenix, Ariz.

'It was the 'old-dad' leading in the young 'un,' " Dadson grinned. "The old adrenalin started pumping in pretty good about then. I just wanted to do the best I could and get in there and get out of there.

His nerves under control, Dadson banked into a perfect carrier landing on his return, snagging the No. 3 arresting cable which is the ideal target on the angled flight deck.

'I felt like a character from a John Wayne movie," Dadson said. Then, giving way to youthful exhuberance, he pulled off his bulky plastic flight helmet and emerged from the cockpit wearing a World War I leather helmet and goggles he had confidently carried along for the oc-He felt a long way from his

Voluntary Giving: Another Americanism

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - If the United States is to be branded as singularly violent among nations, then a sense of intellectual balance requires that notice be taken also of another characteristic: organized, voluntary philanthropy.

This quality is not quite unique among Americans, but its utter absence in the traditions of most nations has led to immeasurable violence and anguish for its people.

More so than any nation, America has the tradition of voluntary giving. Private, nonprofit institutions, often staffed with volunteers, do much of the work that, in many nations, is left to the government.

In 1967, Americans donated to worthy causes-religion, education, the arts, hospitals, the poor and so on-a conservatively estimated $14.6 billion. It was the 29th straight year of increased donations.

Since philanthropy in the United States is so highly organized an activity, a popular delusion also exists that the greater portion of this total is given by corporations or foundations or left in wills.

The statistics show, however, that $11.1 billion of the 1967 total was donated by living individuals, much of it in $1 and $2 contributions in door-to-door solicatations by neighbors

If it is argued that this proves we are a nation of beggars rather than givers, and that Americans can afford a dollar or two to get rid of a nuisance at the door, then one can point to the contributions not measured in

As of now, it is estimated by the American Association of Fund Raising Counsel, a trade group of professional fund raisers, that 56 million American's offer their time and skills to philanthropy, in one form or another and for periods ranging from minutes to months.

The association estimates that an executive who agrees to lead a large national campaign might very well be involved for one-third of the year, might attend 20 meetings, make at least 25 calls and give several speech-

"Volunteering is in itself an American institution," the association's literature notes. As evidence, it calls attention also to the Peace Corps, which has more than 12,000 volunteers abroad and more than 15,000 who have completed overseas assignments.

There is an attitude among Americans, says Jack Schwatz, association executive director, that a certain amount of what they earn will be given away. "There is a general feeling of social responsibility. It may go back to tithing, I don't know for sure, but the feeling is there. It's part of our culture.

Most students believe American philanthropy is a tradition as old as the nation, that it goes bacc to the 17th century when neighbors were dependent upon each other for security, for raising orphaned children, for building barns.

Today, many activities normally supported by government in some nations are operated in the United States as private, nonprofit enterprises. The giving of funds, in fact, is essential to advances in education, health, culture and welfare.

There is some question nowa question that will give ammunition to nritics-of whether philanthropy is keeping pace with demands from all those in need of funds. The percentage of funds donated by individuals dropped from 3.80 per cent of gross income in 1956 to 3.13 per cent in 1966.

For the first time in a decade the foundations failed to increase their total giving. And the percentage of taxable income donated by corporations has held steady at 1 per nent for a decade now.

The enormous totals continue to rise, however, because of the expanding economy. And few analysts are willing to state flatly that the percentages also won't begin rising again as charitable Americans search their souls in these troubled

Says Byrne Whalen of the association, who researched income tax deductions for his estimates on philanthropy: "The average American family gives away more than it takes credit for on its income tax."

For Curbing Air Pollution

KANSAS CITY (AP) - The Missouri Air Conservation Commission Tuesday heard a staff recommendation that it adopt a standard aimed at reducing visible air pollution 50 per cent in the Kansas City area by Dec.

The recommendation came as the commission opened hearings on proposed air quality standard, emission control regulation and the formation of five counties into a Kansas City district before a group of industrialist and citizens in City Hall.

The proposed Kansas City metropolitan area would include counties only on the Missouri side of the state line. They are Jackson, Clay, Platte, Cass and Ray counties.

Although the state line constitutes a problem of control of air pollution through the total Kansas City area, the Missouri commission is proceeding on the basis that similar standards and regulations can be adopted by the Kansas State Air Quality Conservation commission for the counties of Wyandotte, Johnson and Leavenworth coun-proposed one-year extension of the basic farm program, stalled for nearly a month, was cleared Tuesday for House consideration by the House Rules Committee.

The current program does not expire until Dec. 31, 1969, but the House Agriculture Committee early last month voted a straight one-year extension.

However, the measure ran into a snag in the Rules Committee May 21 when a 6-6 tie vote failed to clear it for House debate. Another move to postpone action also was beaten at that time.

The administration has asked Congress to make permanent the program, approved in 1965 for a five-year trial run. The government, acting under the program, has made payments of more than $3 billion annually to farmers for idling land not needed to produce wheat, feed grains and cotton.

The one-year extension has been endorsed by the House Republican Policy Committee. In the Senate, hearings are scheduled to begin next Monday on a four-year extension of the pro-

NEW YORK (AP) - Now that Grady Hatton and Gene Mauch have walked the plank, the baseball vultures are won-dering who will be the next to

With four new jobs opening up next season at Montreal, Kansas City, Seattle and San Diego, the job possibilities are brighter than usual.

Mauch already has been mentioned in some circles as a possibility for San Diego and Joe Adcock, let out last year at Cleveland, is supposed to be set to move up with Seattle from minors to majors.

Taking the Tuesday morning standings as a guide, here is a rundown on the status of the current managerial crop: National League

Red Schoendienst, St. Louis-Working on a one-year contract despite leading the Cards to the world championship last fall. Red Birds leading the league by a comfortable margin despite serious slumps by key hitters.

Luman Harris, Atlanta-Hired to succeed Billy Hitchcock last fall. Long time confidante of Paul Richards, the vice president in charge of baseball operations. Has Braves in race and should be secure.

Herman Frank, San Francisco-Has best winning record of any manager in the league with three straight second place finishes. Operates on year-to-year basis. In strong position to finish second again unless Cards

Walter Alston, Los Angeles-Walter almost goes with the franchise. In his 15th year as Dodger skipper. Thanks to Don Drysdale has club in race and will continue to get new contracts as long as he wants them.

Bob Skinner, Philadelphia-Just arrived from San Diego with job assured through 1969 and fine minor league record to back him up.

Leo Durocher, Chicago-They tore up his original three-year contract and gave him a new two-year deal that runs through 1969. Under Leo the Cubs have looked more like a ball club although not up to startling surprises of last summer.

Gil Hodges, New York-Could be manager of the year. In first year of three-year contract running through 1970, he has pulled the Mets out of basement while developing fine young pitching

Dave Bristol. Cincinnati-Sore-armed pitching staff that forced him to shuffle starting rotation has contributed to slow start. A solid baseball man with extensive minor league experience, he is set through 1969.

Larry Shepard, Pittsburgh-Organization man whose main job was to be straightening out pitching staff. Found club's best hitters in puzzling slump but beginning to find old spark. Given one-year contract when hired last fall to succeed Harry Walk-

Harry Walker, Houston-Back again after a brief period as batting instructor for the Astros. Was the available man when last-place situation made Grady Hatton expendable.

American League Mayo Smith, Detroit-Just missed last year and threatens to run away with it this time. Got a two-year contract when he took over for the late Chuck Dressen at the end of 1966 sea-

Hank Bauer, Baltimore-Working on second half of twoyear deal after Orioles won 1966 pennant. Injuries and illness of Frank Robinson and troubles with pitching have made it tough to close in on Tigers.

Make Walker's Day A Rousing Success

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

Harry Walker and Bob Skinner, baseball's newest managers, did double-takes Tuesday night but it was the New York Mets and San Francisco Giants who couldn't believe their eyes.

The Houston Astros, who had lost six straight games and fallen deep into the National League cellar, made Walker's first day a rousing success by sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from the Mets 3-2 and 6-

In the American League, Detroit turned back Boston 2-1, Baltimore got by Oakland 3-2, Cleveland whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-1, Minnesota outslugged Washington 9-8 and California downed the New York Yankees 3-1

"You can't do a lot of things at this stage," Walker said after replacing Grady Hatton at the Houston helm Tuesday afternoon. One of the things the Astros have almost always been able to do in the seven years of their existence is beat the Mets.

They won the opener on Jim Wynn's seventh-inning homer and took the nightcap on Bob Watson's seventh-inning sacrifice fly after blowing a 5-0 lead. Ironically, Watson had replaced Wynn after the Houston slugger aggravated a groin injury.

Denny Lemaster hurled a sixhitter in the opener, fanning 10, and rookie Jim Ray picked up his first major league victory in the second game with six innings of shutout relief.

'If all had gone well with the club we'd all have been happier, myself included, to keep things just as they were," said Walker, who was the Astros' batting coach and a close friend of Hat-

Skinner, like Walker a former hard-hitting big league outfielder, was managing the Phillies' San Diego farm team in the Pacific Coast League when he was tapped to replace Mauch. He lost his debut to the Dodgers but looked on in delight Tuesday night as the Phils pounded out 13 hits in each game, posted their first doubleheader sweep since last August and climbed into third place.

Southpaws Chris Short and

Woody Fryman went the route and batted in two runs apiece. Richie Allen who had his troubles with Mauch, and Cookie Rojas both slugged a pair of homers. The Phils salted away the first game with six runs in the fifth inning and scored four in the fifth inning of the nightcap for a 5-0 lead.

Mack Jones turned on his former Atlanta teammates by crashing a two-run homer in the ninth inning that powered the Reds past the Braves. Pete Rose cracked five straight hits for the Reds, including three doubles, while rookie catcher Johnny Bench batted in two runs with a homer and double.

Bobby Tolan's first homer of the season and Nelson Briles' eight-hit pitching carried the Cardinals past the Cubs. The Cards increased their lead to 5½ games over Atlanta in winning for the 17th time in their last 21 games.

Matty Alou's run-scoring single in the 10th inning scored Maury Wills from second base and gave Pittsburgh its seventh straight win and put the Pirates in a virtual tie for sixth place.

Don Drysdale, the Dodger starter, left the game after seven innings with a 2-1 lead and a pulled back muscle. Willie Stargell's mammoth homer, his 12th, tied the game 2-2 in the eighth and came off Jim Brewer.

Argentine Rocco of Argentine, South America, displayed action in his feature event with Bob "Bad Boy" Brown, Tuesday night at Convention Hall, Liberty Park, in winning the two final falls of the match. The champion from way-down south displayed action like never was seen before in the local wrestling ring.

Brown succeeded in providing a series of knee drops and a press to win the first fall in 10minutes and 25 seconds; but the second fall ended quickly as Rocca put his feet and legs in action making a quick snatch with his feet for a headlock on Brown and following with a press to win in one minute and 20 seconds. URBANA, Mo. (AP) — A pro football player, attempting to get his military obligation out of the way before the start of practice sessions, was fatally injured Tuesday in a highway accident near this southwestern Missouri community.

The victim was identified by the Missouri National Guard as Bruce McLenna, a member of the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League.

McLenna, a 26-year-old fullback, signed with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League after graduating from Hillsdale, Mich., College. He was traded to the Baltimore Colts and the New Orlenas Saints before signing with the Chiefs last year.

The Chiefs' pre-season roster listed McLenna as the No. 3 fullback, but a recent trade had moved him to the No. 2 spot behind starter Curtis Mc-Clinton.

A guard spokesman said Mc-Lenna had received permission to train with another unit, since his unit wouldn't go to camp until after the Chiefs' training camp opened next month. He was enroute from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., to Camp Clark at Nevada, Mo., when his military vehicle and a civilian car sideswiped, the spokesman said.

The accident was listed as a minor accident by the Missouri Highway Patrol at first. The only visible injuries on McLenna's body were a bruise on his

Pepsi Takes 16-12 Loss From S&M

It was batter's night in Senior Babe Ruth action, Tuesday, as S&M clubbed out a 16 to 12 victory over Pepsi Cola in the first game of the evening.

S&M sent ten men to the plate in the seventh inning of the first game for seven runs. The inning was highlighted by a long home run over the left field fence by Dave Pirtle. It was the first home run of the season for any player.

Mike Robertson started for Pepsi Cola and pitched six innings. He was relieved in the seventh by Pete Green and Terry Hudson. Green took the loss. Dave Pirtle started for S&M and was relieved by George Williams in the fourth. Williams was credited with the

Van Dyne Is Playing Good Golf

A former Sedalian, Charles M. Van Dyne, now of Kansas City, was missing from the list golfers vieing for the Missouri State Amateur Title at state tournament being played on the Blue Hills Country Club Course. Van Dyne who battled his way through a week of golf last week won the Kansas City Golf Association title last Saturday.

However, Sedalia is well represented in the play, with Mike De Lozier, the first Sedalian ever to play in the U. S. Open in Rochester, N. Y. last week, entered.

Van Dyne is the son of Mrs. Charles M. Van Dyne, 1605 West 13th Street, and the late Charles M. Van Dyne for whom the Van Dyne Memorial Tournament is named each spring at the Sedalia Country Club.

After winning the K. C. G. A., Van Dyne was expected by friends to enter the State Amateur.

Other Sedalia Country Club players playing in the tournament are Gordon Childers who teed off early Tuesday and finished with a 39-42 for 81; James "Jim" Buchanan, C. Damon Hieronymus, Keith Young, Sr., and Dr. C. W. Kateman.

Three former Sedalians entered are John Simmons of Marshall, Fred Hulse of Columbia, and James Patrick Quinn, og Kansas City.

Hieronymus and Quinn have been playing in the state tournament for many years.

Speedy Colt Ruled Slim Favorite

BOSTON (AP) - Out of the Way, King Ranch's speedy 3year-old colt, was ruled a slim favorite to become the fourth sophomore in history to win the Massachusetts Handicap today in the 34th running of the $61,550 classic at Suffolk Downs.

Winner of the $100,000-added Jersey Derby at nine furlongs and runnerup to Forward Pass in the Preakness, Out of the Way sought to join Menow (1938), War Relic (1941) and Fast Count (1966) as the only 3year-old winners of the Mass

With a field of 12 probable starters and comparatively top imposts, the 11/4 mile test for 3year-olds and up figured to be one of the most wide open races since the Mass Cap inaugural.

Out of the Way got in at 112 pounds, four fewer than the top weight assigned to Rokeby Stable's Fort Marcy. Ridden by Manny Ycaza, Fort Marcy was expected to draw plenty of backing off the 4-year-old gelding's upset of Damascus in the Washington, D.C., International

Readers List Many Ways To Utilize Old Sheets

Polly's Pointers

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—My husband and I are planning a cross-country trip with our small daughters (ages 3 and 1½) and would like any tips that will make our trip easier and more enjoyable.—MARY

DEAR POLLY—I have some ideas for Betty who wanted to know what to do with old sheets. (1) Tear a slit about three-fourths way down the middle of one and place on the floor under the ironing board when ironing long things that would otherwise drag on the floor; (2) use as dust covers on upholstered furniture while away on trips or vacation; (3) draw a piece tightly over a board to serve as a screen for showing home movies; (4) use as covers for wrapping seld-dom-used linens; (5) make rag bags, laundry bags and dust cloth bags.—C. S. H.

DEAR POLLY—Tell Betty that old sheets make wonderful costumes for Halloween or school plays. I have done this for four years and our ele-mentary school has picked up the idea, thereby saving the parents and school money. Since such costumes are worn only once or twice buying new material often becomes quite a waste.-MRS. H. E. C.

DEAR POLLY-I have used old sheets to line curtains. I fasten the sheet at the top and let it hang loose. Then if it wears out before the curtain I replace it with another one. The worn parts make nice polishing rags for windows and mirrors. Also pieces may be used for under garments for pixies and for doll bed linens.— MRS. S. H.

DEAR POLLY-Betty should watch for the first sign of wear in her sheets, rip them through the center from one end to the other and then seam the side selvages together to make a flat seam down the middle of each sheet. Hem the outside edges. If the sheet is too far gone for the above the good parts make nice liners for the linen closet shelves or to make a crib or bassinet sheets. Also they can be boiled and then torn into strips for bandages or given to hospitals or missions who often have a great need for them.-MARGARET

TORONTO (AP) - An aura of mystery surrounded the disappearance of Lee Trevino from the scene of the Canadian Open Golf Championship Tuesday morning and became more bewildering later in the day.

Trevino, of El Paso, Tex., was reported to have withdrawn from the 72-hole tournament because of the serious illness of his daughter. It was later learned, however, the child had only a slight cold and Trevino wanted time to review a series of financial offers received following his U.S. Open victory.

Trevino said he will rejoin the PGA tour in two weeks for the Cleveland Open.

His name has been withdrawn from the list of 147 professionals and three amateurs in the Open, which carries total prize money of $125,000 and a firstplace purse of $25,000.

Three other withdrawals were also announced before the starting draw was completed Tuesday. U.S. professionals Bob Goalby and Gay Brewer decided not to play. Goalby is suffering from a shoulder injury and Brewer's daughter was reported to be undergoing surgery.

Practically every big-name golfer on the U.S. circuit is here for the tournament over the par-70, 6,792-yard St. George's Golf Club layout.

Billy Casper played an 18-hole practice round Tuesday, although he did not keep score. Arnold Palmer arrived late in the day and played 11 holes—the first 10 and the 18th. Jack Nicklaus was scheduled to arrive to-

Jean De Kat, 27, messaged Tuesday that he was abandoning his 50-foot trimaran Yaksha in heavy seas about 600 miles west of Ireland. He reported his mast and rudder were broken and one of the yacht's three parallel hulls was torn away.

Weather ships, freighters, the 25,000-ton liner Empress of Britain and British Atlantic Patrol planes from Northern Ireland converged on the spot. The first report of wreckage came from the Dutton, a U.S. Navy ballistic missile support ship which has the latest search and naviga-

Search experts directing the Royal Air Force's Shackleton Patol planes rated De Kat's survival chance as good provided visibility held and he had been able to get his dinghy's cover

Yaksha is one of 13 multihulled craft - twin-hulled catamarans and three-hulled trimarans - among the 35 original entries.

Their great virtue is speed. Even in moderate breezes a multihull can reach up to 20 knots because instead of heeling it stays upright and the sails catch up in the wind.

But in heavy weather the risk of capsize is high and the strain on the bridge between the parallel hulls immense

Conventional yachts, though their speed seldom exceeds 10 knots, are less prone to capsize. Even if they are knocked down by squalls their heavy ballast keels are usually enough to right them again.

John Pymun, technical secretary of the Royal Yachting Association, said:

"The traditional yacht may break its mast and rigging when it capsizes but it usually rights itself and leaves its crew with ome she ter and control.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bobby Tolan has said all along that all he wants is a chance.

The 22-year-old got a chance Tuesday night in rightfield and smashed a homer and double to lead St. Louis to a 1-0 National League victory over Chicago.

"It's just being able to play and getting a chance to get your timing back," Tolan said as he enjoyed the limelight following the game. He said his fifth inning homer off the Cubs' Bill Hands was a fast ball "down and in." The homer, a line smash into the rightfield seats, was Tolan's first of the season.

In the quiet Chicago dressing room, there was little conversation. Manager Leo Durocher could say little except to agree that it was a tough game to

Hands allowed the Cardinals six hits in the seven innings he pitched before giving way to a pinchhitter. Only once in the entire game did the Cardinals have two base runners at the same time and that was in the second inning when Tolan hit into a doubleplay, quickly eliminating one of the runners.

As for Briles, he pretty well summed up his side of the game when he said the Cubs had two big situations and the Cards got out of them both times with Cubs have a loss to prove that.

doubleplays. Ironically, strikeouts by Chicago's Ron Santo triggered both twin-killings. In the fourth inning, Edwards threw to Dick Schofield covering second who then quickly returned the throw to home, getting Glenn Beckert at home plate. In the sixth inning, Santo again struckout and this time Edwards threw out Don Kessin-ger at third. 'Edwards and Schofield made some great plays," Briles said, adding, "in any 1-0 game you have some tremendous defensive plays.

Lou Johnson of the Cubs lifted a long fly to left field for the third out in the ninth inning and Briles admitted that one had him scared.

"I thought that one was hit hard enough to get into the first row of the seats," Briles said. But Lou Brock hauled it in for the third out. "I guess we were just fortunate we weren't playing in Wrigley Field," Briles added. Tolan, who has been getting more action than usual in rightfield because Roger Maris is out with a heel injury, says the regular play is helping get his timing down.

And, Tolan continued, before the game Lou Brock came over and suggested that maybe he was swinging defensively-"just trying to make contact." After getting Brock's advice. Tolan said his swing improved and the

ssociated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - New York's controversial lottery is a year old and it's paid the state $31.8 million. But detractors label it a colossal failure, citing projections by some sponsors that it would bring $360 million in revenue annually.

The revenue from the $1 tickets that first went on sale last June is pumped into the Education Department's coffers.

Tax Department officials who oversee the lottery always have disowned the $360 million estimate, attributing it to faulty arithmetic of overly zealous proponents.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller originally estimated that the yield would be about $60 million a year. For the 1968-69 budget year, he is counting on $46 mil-

New Hampshire's sweep-stakes lottery, the first in the nation, hasn't measured up to expectations either. Sponsors had predicted it would bring up A Free Press to $7 million a year. Last year, it took in $1.05 million. The New Hampshire income also goes to education.

Even though gross sales for the 11 months ended April 30 totaled only $57,884,736, the New York lottery produced more revenue than the estimated yields of other new tax measures approved during the 1968 legislative session.

These included raising the gasoline tax another cent a gallon, boosting the cigarette tax two cents a pack, raising the parimutuel betting pool one half of one per cent, and increasing some business taxes.

In addition to raising money for education, the lottery paid $17.3 million in prizes, ranging from $100,000 to $150, to 12,977 persons. The $100,000 winner in May was a woman, living alone, who had been forced to give up her job as a cleaning woman because of varicose veins.

There were other peripheral benefits. Commissions paid to banks for distribution of tickets exceeded $2.8 million. Western Union grossed more than $22,000 for telegrams which the stateprohibited by law from u ing the mails-used to notify win-first 10 months, far below the 15 per cent ceiling set by the legislature. This included transportation expenses and retaining an advertising agency to mount an aggressive selling campaign.

The campaign also has helped keep alive resentment of the lottery. Opponents denounce it as an immoral and demeaning way to raise funds.

Proponents laud it as a permissive tax," one that you don't have to pay if you don't want to. Congress put some brakes on the lottery when it banned federally chartered banks from selling tickets. This cost the state 2,300 outlets in April and sales dropped to $4.2 million, the second lowest since last

To counteract this, the legisla-

Fewer Countries Counted With

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)-The second international survey conducted by the Freedom of Information Center at the University of Missouri School of Journalism for 1967 showed 47 countries have free press systems and 26 countries have a controlled press.

The survey classified 11 countries as having a "transitional" type of press system while 31 others were unranked in the 1967 study.

In the first survey in 1966, 55 countries had a free press, 39 a controlled press; 10 a transitional press and 21 countries unranked

In terms of populations, the 1967 survey showed about 1.48 billion or 43.3 per cent of the world's people lived under free press conditions, while 1.4 billion or 41.1 per cent lived under controlled press conditions. The transitional category included 306 million people, or nine per cent, and the unranked category 2.4 million people or 6.6 per cent.

The center said that considering the extent the present study was able to measure accurately, "the picture of world press free-cost the state $5.4 million for the ture expanded outlets to include supermarkets and other public places. Tax Department district offices cut personnel loose from auditing returns to seek out potential vendors. Twenty sales representatives were hired at $9,200 annually.

The legislature also authorized the state to hold drawings weekly-if desired-and on special occasions. In the first year, drawings have been once a

But the bloom has worn off. Only twice have monthly sales topped $6 million and the crowds attracted to drawings have dwindled sharply. In some instances, only newsmen have been present.

Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy says he has little doubt that the lottery will continue as a means of raising revenue. But, he adds, "Our experience with the new outlets has been too brief and so far inconclusive to prove anything meaningful. We are hopeful that lottery sales will improve.'

Ernest T. Bird, director of the lottery division, says the lottery is still in a "transitional periand we're "trying to get the public oriented to the new

Petition to Obtain Vote at McDonnell

ST. LOUIS (AP)-An association of skilled workers is circulating petitions among employes of the McDonnell Douglas Corp. seeking an election to determine whether 20,000 employes will be represented by the association or the Machinists

The Tooling and Machine Shop Association, which has about 4.-000 members, is seeking the National Labor Relations Board representation election.

Attorney Harry Craig said most members of the group feel they are not properly represented by Machinists Union District 837, which bargains for 20,-000 employes of the giant aerospace firm.

Craig said the tooling and machine shop association feels "the majority of people at Mc-Donnell Douglas are dissatisfied with the representation they are getting and the majority would like a different representative."

Taxation Of Church TV Topic

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - "CBS Reports' dug boldly into a touchy, controversial subject in its Tuesday night program, "The Business of Religion." The hour show raised the question of taxing churches—Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and all others -which always have been ex-

The program presented the question from the points of view of churchmen and government officials. It took public, congressional and clerical opinion polls on various kinds of tax exemption. In addition, it undertook some difficult, original re-

Narrator Charles Kuralt opened the program by noting that the practice goes back 3,700 years to the Egyptians who exempted priests from tithes and taxes, and that it never occurred to the Founding Fathers to tax churches.

Then the problem was posed in its simplest terms: Churches are rich; the government-local, state and federal-needs money; churchmen hesitate to discuss taxation because it might have a crippling effect on the institutions, and government officials hesitate because they do not want to appear to be antireligious.

The program presented some awesome statistics: More than 350,000 churches; an estimated 130-million church members; week-by-week religious contributions estimated by a former Internal Revenue Service head at between $71/2 and 8 billion a year, and tax exempt church property estimated at $79.5 billion, equal to almost double the assessed valuation of New York

To the question of whether the church should be taxed, most of the eminent churchmen of many denominations gave qualified affirmative answers.

There was general agreement that church buildings, schools, hospitals and homes for the aged should be tax free, but that the business and commercial interests of churches-real estate, hotels, manufacturing companies acquired by gift or pur-chase—should be liable for income taxes as are the incomes of their competitors.

The program was jammed with statistics and facts, and it reflected the varying points of view by moving from interviews with churchmen to tax experts and real estate specialists.

It ran into trouble arriving at money totals partly because some of the most important figures are not disclosed and part-

Man Wounded By a Burst Of Gunfire

OVERLAND, Mo. (AP)-One man was shot, apparently by machine gun fire Tuesday, police said, as he walked out of a night club in Overland.

The victim was identified as James Edward Stephens, 30, of St. Louis. Officers said his 35vear-old brother Robert was with him, but was not wounded. Stephens was taken to a county hospital with multiple gunshot wounds of the chest and arms and a leg.

Police said two men were arrested in the shooting. They were not identified. One of the men was taken to a county hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound in the arm following a chase that ended in nearby Breckenridge Hills,

The Stephens brothers were either just about to leave the club or already outside, when a passing auto sped by and the shooting erupted.

Ordination Rites Simplified by Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope Paul VI Tuesday simplified and shortened ordination ceremonies for bishops, priests and

The move was another step in the sweeping reforms being made in the Roman Catholic lit-

An announcement by the Vatican said that with the new rules, which become effective in five months, the ordination rites will be "logically developed, sufficiently brief, easily understandable and aimed at a more active participation by the faith-ly because some totals have never been compiled.

The CBS news survey clearly indicates that the time has come for a full and frank discussion of this subject in America," concluded Kuralt. "This broadcast has been our attempt to open that discussion.

And it seems certain that the hour, despite its tone of cool impartiality, will cause some

Since it consisted primarily of assorted interviews, it did not add up to much in visual terms. But it was an important and even brave program and therefore a valuable public service.

much of it is his fault. Whenever we go to a party or to a dance the girls fall all over Abner. To make matters worse, he is a marvelous dancer and girls come up and cut me so they can dance with him.

It's nice to have a handsome boyfriend but I'm beginning to think I'd be better off with someone who wasn't such a traffic-stopper. What do you suggest? - DARIEN

Dear Darien: Why don't you just put a gunny sack over Abner's head so that girls can't see how handsome he is? And then you could break his leg so he can't dance. Confidence Needed

Recently in your column you apologized for confusing the two. For you to have confused the quotations is understandable. I cannot understand, however, the flippant remark which followed your apology. You said, "I'll take 10 lashes with an old prayer shawl." You would not have said, "I'll take 10 lashes with a wet American flag" or, "I'll take 10 lashes with a

secondhand rosary," would you? — A FRIENDLY PASTOR IN CHARLOTTE

Dear Pastor: My apologies if I offended you or your people. Your stationery indicates you are a rabbi. Your people happen to be my people, also. And perhaps this is why I said "prayer shawl" and not "rosary." I am less sensitive about a symbol of my own religion. Never thought I'd have to apologize for an apology, but

Violence: Ever-Present Issue

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - And now the entertainment industry comes face to face with the issue of violence.

The matter has been debated for years, as social critics deplored the outpouring of brutality on theater and home screens. But it took months of rioting in city streets and on college campuses and, finally, two political assassinations to bring the issue squarely before public scrutiny. President Johnson issued the challenge:

"Are the seeds of violence nurtured through the public's airwaves, the screens of neighborhood theaters, the news media and other forms of communication that reach the family and our young?'

The President posed this question at the convening of his new commission on violence, formed

Hal Boyle's Column

assigned Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower to head the 10-member panel, known as the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence.

The commission might be able to fulfill a mission long recommended by certain responsible leaders: to determine whether portrayed violence induces violent behavior. There are two schools of thought on this matter:

1. Some argue that by viewing dramatized violence, human beings get rid of their repressed emotions. This theory was expressed by Aristotle, who declared that art could function as a catharsis so that tragedy "through pity and fear, effects the proper purgation" of destructive emotions. 2. Others believe that repeated exposure of impressionable minds to sadistic and criminal after the slaying of Sen. Robert behavior on the screen is bound to result in imitative action.

The latter concern was considerably increased with the advent of television. Nowadays youngsters are exposed to dramatized violence before they are even able to talk or to read.

Many social observers have viewed with special alarm the Saturday morning shows aimed at the very young audience. The shows are almost totally cartoons, and the majority of them are of a violent nature, either on the cat vs. mouse or the superhero vs. villains level.

The television networks have responded to the President's call in different ways.

CBS President Frank Stanton stated: CBS shares the President's concern as to the possible effect of the content of television entertainment programs upon the nature of our society. We will, of course, cooperate in every way possible.

Stanton added that it might take "a considerable length of time to determine whether there is a causal relationship between the fictional portrayal of violence in the mass media and any increase of actual violence in American life." He said that CBS would sponsor meetings between its programmers and series producers and writers in an effort to de-emphasize violence. NBC declared: "The assassination of Sen. Kennedy has given rise to discussion of violence in our society and violence as reflected in the entertainment and news media, including broadcasting. In the news field, we seek to cover, through reporting an analysis, all developments on which public information is vital in a democracy, and we regard such coverage as an important part of our obligation. In the entertainment field, we have established policies and procedures to guard against the depiction of violence for its own

'We intend to continue pursuing these policies with responsibility and vigilance and we will certainly cooperate with the inquiry to be conducted by the commission appointed by President Johnson.

"It took you 40 years to get in that shape, but I think that if you keep working at it you should be able to get back into condition in half that time.'

"George, why can't you be philosophic about it? After all, some people are naturally skinny and others were born to look like laundry bags.

"Hi, guy, long time no see. But say, fellow, has anybody told you you've been putting on weight recently?"

"Have you tried the frozen raw mushroom diet? It's filling - as well as chilling."

The Rev. Father Herbert Kramer assisted by the Rev. Father William Walter, officiated at the nuptial mass before an altar decorated with white floral arrangements.

Mass servers were John World News Verlinden and Leonard Knipp, cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Leroy Knipp, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Miss Barbara Prestage as she sang "The Wedding Prayer,"
"Ave Maria" and "Mother At Gromovoy, reportedly crammed Your Feet Is Kneeling.'

The bride, escorted to the South Caribbean, Defense Minaltar and given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length ister Ramon Florencio Gomez gown of sheer white re- told newsmen Monday. embroidered silk organza over faille taffeta. The long bouffant to Puerto Cabello, 60 miles west sleeves were gathered at the wrist with a small band of matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white mums centered with a white orchid mounted on an heirloom German prayerbook. Her veil of imported silk bridal illusion was held in place by Venice lace mounted at the crown and bordering the long veil that flowed to chapel length.

Miss Renee Reibenspies, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore a yellow floor length A-line gown designed with a stand-up collar accented with a pink floral applique and short sleeves. In an array of pastel rainbow colors the bridesmaids, Misses Carolyn Stoecklein, Dala Beeman, Joyce Klass and Prilly Fischer, wore nile green, orchid, pink and blue respectively. The attendants carried nosegays of pink daisies.

Miss Peggy Fischer, Sedalia, assisted the bride before the ceremony and later presided at the gift table.

The groom chose Mr. Kenny Kuttenkuler for his best man and Mr. Chuck Thiel, Mr. Jack Knipp, Mr. Danny Dick and Mr. Bob Koerkenmeier as groomsmen. Ushering duties were performed by Mr. Frank Yontz, Mr. Paul Fischer, Mr. Tom Claas and Mr. Jim Heppler, Wichita, Kan.

Mrs. Reibenspies, mother of the bride, wore a pale aqua bonded knit dress with white accessories. Mrs. Koerkenmeier, mother of the groom, wore a pale olive dress with white accessories. A corsage of white carnations was worn by each mother.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Kueper Center with Mrs. A. G. Schreck, Mrs. George Thiel Jr. and Mrs. George Kuttenkuler in charge. The decorating scheme centered around a sunburst of rainbow colors forming the upper portion of an arch which was supported to the floor with live greenery.

Growing Discontent Is Noted Among Cubans

HAVANA (AP) — Signs saying, "Gracias, Fidel," popped up in Havana as Castro and his band of bearded guerrillas made their triumphant entry into the capital 91/2 years ago. "Ninety-nine per cent of the people were behind him," an ex-Castro fan recalls.

The prime minister's popularity has gone up and down since. Evidence now indicates it is at its lowest point since he chased dictator Fulgencio Batista out of the country in 1959.

There seems little doubt that discontent today is more serious than government officials acknowledge. The middle ground of Cubans, people who could be identified in the United States as independent voters, are tired of rationing, tired of promises and tired of more restrictions. Their view of what the government is trying to do has become wrapped in confusion, disappointment, propaganda and hard times. Because Castro and the system are the same, a drop in his popularity is a decline for the government also.

Ever since he took control there have been those who wanted to overthrow him but organized opposition always has been minor and with little real popular support.
Today, the disenchantment is unorganized but widespread. It is grassroots discontent, caused principally by austere living conditions. As such, it seems capable of flaring into something more

Communist government eliminates its economic problems.
The prospects for the latter,
even by Castro's estimates, are unlikely before 1970.

Disaffected Cubans are complaining primarily about living conditions. But there is resentment against government pressure to demand more while giving less material rewards.

Things like individual rights or a free press appear to have been buried by more pressing troubles. They are generally voiced by complainers as afterthoughts.

The drop in popularity has solidified support among Castro's revolutionaries. Their attitude: "If you are not with us, you are against us." This has bewildered the apolitical and apathetic, people just trying to get

It also has produced disaffection in a small minority of the youth. To some this is significant since Castro depends heavily on young people for the future. To others, it suggests that a world trend of feeling against the establishment has shown up

An outbreak of unexplained fires at production installations was reported in cities in April and May. In one instance, the evidence indicated sabotage.

At some Havana high schools, students were censured for distributing antigovernment literature and demanding more freedom in school affairs. Education threatening, or dissolving if the Minister Jose Llanusa warned them: "We are not going to have another Czechoslovakia in Cuba.

The depth of discontent is difficult to estimate. But it is worth remembering that sabotage, counterrevolution, violence and anti-government expressions have been with this government since its inception.

Some quarters suggest that part of the prime minister's popularity problem stems from a credibility gap after nearly 10 years of leading the country. Others say this is merely a growing occupational disease which afflicts most leaders to-

A prevalent view is that the present discontent is as much against the situation as the man, an unsurprising conclusion since the two have been inseparable since Castro began his revolution. But because he can still evoke grudging admiration from those who denounce him and because of the government's ability to smash dissent immediately, serious open rebellion seems unlikely.

"I don't like what's going on here but that doesn't mean I want the Yankees back," says a Cuban.

Foreign Press Hits At Violence

LONDON (AP) - Violence in the United States continues to preoccupy the world press, and one commentator expresses doubt that America has learned anything "from the series of shattering assassinations."

Desmond Rushe, of Dublin's Irish Independent, wrote after covering the funeral of Robert F. Kennedy: "A baffling incongruity in the United States—and one which leaves a sour, bitter and angry feeling against America and Americans—is the com-munal and political attitude toward firearms control.

"One wonders," said Rushe, "if America has learned anything at all from the series of shattering assassinations which has overtaken it. Or, indeed, if Americans are not more cynically and selfishly preoccupied with guarding their vested interests than in curing the racial and social ills which afflict their land.'

Sir Denis Brogan, British historian writing in the Spectator, depicted the United States in the role of the heavy.

FORT ERIE, Ont. (AP) -John Staley, 23, of New York City, was acquitted Monday of possessing LSD for sale despite his admission that he had been carrying enough of the psychedelic drug for 12,000 "trips."

Staley was arrested on a bus at the U.S.-Canadian border May 25. Authorities said his suitcase contained $72,000 worth of the drug.

In a statement at his trial June 6, Staley said he was taking the LSD from New York to Toronto, where he was to have handed it over to an unidentified ernyaya Moskva-Evening Mosperson at a hotel.

THE NEWS

Magistrate Johnstone L. Roberts, in acquitting Staley, said there was no evidence that Staley had been offering the LSD for sale. Roberts said that possession of the drug has not been made an offense in Canada.

Crossroads Comment

Overextended staff meetings finally put a crimp in the time schedule for knocking out on the typewriter a few lines of 16.6 ems 11 pt. comment scheduled for this space.

Frequently people say they read this column but don't always agree with its content, opinion-wise. Which suggests that the judges of the United States Supreme Court are not always in agreement on some decisions handed down by the majority.

The layman, too, has difficulty lately in agreeing with the majority on what seems to be hair-splitting determinations by the court about what is or what is not constitutional.

So every now and then someone comes up with the mournful proposal that we ought to wipe out all existing laws and start over again. A friend suggests this method: Wipe out all laws except the Golden Rule, but provide a death penalty for violations of it. Sounds morbid and inconsistent, tied in with the Golden Rule.

How many persons can define the Golden Rule? There seems to be no copyright on it because:

Aristotle said — "We should behave to friends, as we would wish friends to behave to us.'

Epictetus — "Therefore if anyone would take these words to heart and use them for his own guidance, he will be almost without sin. These two words are, bear and forbear."

Seneca - "Treat your inferiors as you would be treated by your betters."

Lord Chesterfield - "To do as you would be done by, is the plain, sure and undisputed rule of morality and justice."

Babylonian Talmud — "What is hateful to thyself do not unto thy neighbor."

New Testament (Matthew) "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets."

On the subject of court decisions, there comes to mind a couple of squibs, one by a president of the American Bar Association whose name I do not recall:

"An orderly society cannot exist if every man may determine which laws he will

That one is quite apropos of our violent times, as is this one, also:

If the laws are antiquated or silly, it is the duty of public officials to work for changes. Until the laws are changed, it is the duty of public officials, and others, to obey them.

Youth Gangs Are Under Scrutiny

BY DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Senator John McClellan, D-Ark., the angry man of the Senate, has sent a swarm of investigators and auditors into the Chicago ghetto to hunt for scandals in the anti-poverty program.

They have brought back horrendous tales about accused murderers, rapists and other hoodlums on the government payroll. One police intelligence report charges that black militants were flown at the taxpayers' expense from Watts to Chicago to stir up racial violence.

The chief target of the McClellan investigation is a $927,341 anti-poverty project which was intended to rehabilitate two warring youth gangs - The Blackstone Rangers and East Side Disciples. Leaders of both gangs were signed up as "teachers" and "recruiters" to bring their members into the

Two gang leaders, Eugene Hairston of the Rangers and Jeffery Fort of the Disciples, were drawing $7,200 and $6,000, respectively, in federal pay. (Hairston was found guilty of "solicitation to commit murder;" a charge that Fort had killed a 13-year-old boy was dismissed.) Three others on the anti-poverty payroll — Lee Jackson, Charles Bey and William Troop were arrested for alleged rape. There were 32 youths on the job-training staff.

-Gangs 'Cool It'-

Yet there is solid evidence that this daring antipoverty project has reduced both crime and violence in the ghetto. A confidential survey found that 88.9 per cent of the merchants in the Rangers' territory and 86.7 per cent in the Disciples' domain felt that the youth gangs had helped to prevent rioting after Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination. The results were quite opposite in the neighborhood frequented by the Vice Lords, another gang, which doesn't participate in the anti-poverty program.

When a white storekeeper shot a Negro last July 31, the Disciples broke up a mob that was forming in the streets. This brought a letter of appreciation from William Griffin, commander of Chicago's third police district.

Similar findings are expected to come from a University of Chicago study of the gang project. Prof. Irving Spergel, who is directing the four-man study, told us their research isn't yet completed. But he said the group had reached the tentative conclusion that the project had reduced violence, developed community pride and prepared a number of gang members for constructive employment.

Although both Rangers and Disciples still pack pistols and commit crimes, the University of Chicago researchers found "considerable evidence" that the project had brought a "decrease in delinquency.

"These are gang kids," said Spergel. "The Boy Scout approach doesn't work in the ghetto. But this anti-poverty program seems to have produced positive results. Something apparently is happening there.

Drake will also be retained during summer months as playground director.

Peter Frank, the janitor of Porter's block, now wears a badge upon which is emblazoned the fact that he is a policeman for the Central block. The badge was made by Mr. George Bichsel.

The Gang Intelligence Unit of the Chicago police takes vigorous exception to these views. The squad members look upon the Rangers and Disciples as incorrigibles and regard the federal payments as "The only way to deal with these gang kids," the police have told McClellan's investigators, "is to shoot them or jail them.

Once the police actually raided the project center while federal officials were negotiating a peace pact between the Rangers and Disciples. A strange pact was eventually signed on April 22, 1967, by Eugene Hairston for the Rangers and Nicholas Dorenzo for

"There is no treaty," declared the pact, "but the two groups have come to an understanding that there will be no weapons used in fighting here on. But it is understood that if shots are fired between either group, it will endanger the (anti-poverty

Jerome Bernstein, the federal project manager, telephoned a black leader in Watts, who previously had gained the confidence of the Chicago gang leaders. He agreed to fly to Chicago to help head off the trouble.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — What's the purpose of the Form 1040-X you introduced?

A - This new form was designed to make it easier for taxpayers to correct errors made on 1040 or 1040-A returns. Instead of filling out an entire return to correct a mistake, taxpayers now just submit information on the item in error.

For example, a taxpayer who made a mistake in listing his 1967 medical deductions reports the correct medical information on Form 1040-X. Then using key figures from the 1040 return he had filed. the new tax liability is caluculated.

Copies of the new 1040-X are available at local IRS offices along with instructions for its use

Ulbricht on Powder Keg; Berlin Is Flimsy Diversion

By LEON DENNEN NEA Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA) It is obviously to bolster the prestige of Walter Ulbricht's shaky regime in East Germany that the Russians have decided to warm up the cold war in East Europe. In the view of East European diplomats, this is the underlying reason for Ulbricht's new illegal restrictions on travel by West Germans to Berlin.

Their immediate aim is to assert East Germany's "presence" as an independent nation in East Europe and to test the determination of the United States, Britain and France to defend the freedom of West Berlin. They are also a warning to Communist nations like Czechoslovakia, Romania, Yugoslavia and Hungary not to ignore or isolate Ulbricht as they move to establish closer relations with the West Germans. For Soviet diplomacy, West Germany has long been a convenient whipping boy. The Kremlin leaders have always found it useful to beat the anti-Bonn drums as loudly as possible when faced with domestic or international trouble. In the latest crisis over Berlin they are again leading from weakness and not from strength. New winds of freedom are blowing everywhere in East Europe and even warming up the cold war as a diversion will not save Ulbricht. With sweeping reforms under way in neighboring Czechoslovakia and other Communist nations, how much longer will his oppressive regime be able to rule East

East German workers and students believe that they are living under the most Stalinist regime in East Europe. Many of them, in conversations with this writer, even compared Ulbricht to Hitler.

The Berlin wall-the "Wall of Germany's shame"-looms large in their thoughts. Before it was built people could flee to West Germany and thousands did. The Communists' protests against the laws, which do not affect East Germany, obviously are phony. As long as they face a hostile Red China and are plagued by increasing dissent in Europe they are not likely to embark on military adventures in Germany

Nevertheless, the situation in Berlin is grave. In addition to diplomatic protests, now is the time for the United States, Britain and France to make it clear to Russia beyond the shadow of a doubt that they will not tolerate Ulbricht's interference with West Berlin's freedom.

Easley Blackwood's new ob as executive head of the American Contract Bridge League leaves him little time for anything else, but he did find time to kibitz awhile at a rubber game in Greenwich on a recent Saturday.

Today's hand was dealt shortly after Easley left and South was not at all happy when West opened his ace of clubs and continued to give his partner the setting trick with the king.

South was very unhappy with the result and highly critical of his partner. South said, "If Blackwood were still watching, I bet you would have used his bid and kept us out of this bad slam. Why didn't you bid four no-trump?'

North felt that his five-heart bid was correct and has appealed to us to answer the question.

Our answer, which is the same as Easley's would be, is that there are hands that call for the use of his convention and hands that call for shunning it, and North's hand is one that calls for shunning it.

The main purpose of Blackwood is to keep out of impossible slams. Usually, a Blackwood bidder will have decided that he is going to a slam and just uses the convention to make sure that his opponents can't take two aces against him.

Thus, you never use Blackwood when you hold a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit. North had two worthless doubletons and if he had asked for aces, North would have found that one was missing. North would not know whether or not his partner could take the second lead of the aceless

Finally, North's five-heart bid should have given South a perfect picture of his hand. North had said, "I am scared of both minor suits. If you can protect both, go to a slam; otherwise stop at five."

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON, D.C. - "I want you to dream dreams but I want you to make them come true," President Johnson recently told 936 young people from 28 states on the east lawn of the White House. They were the guests of the Rural Electrification Association from their respective states on a fiveday visit to the nation's capital.

The President said, "I hope every one of you is thrilled to be standing on the White House lawn, because the White House is a symbol of what is good about the leadership of our country." He reminisced about the revolution which has taken place since he was a young man in Texas with kerosene lamps to study by, and kitchen ranges and oil stoves to cook with. When he worked with the National Youth Administration, the young people then were paid ten and twelve dollars a month. He encouraged the R.E.A. delegates to stay in school because "education is the guiding genius of a democracy." He encouraged them to stay with the land because the R.E.A. and other organizations are constantly improving life in rural America.

President Johnson told his audience that they have an obligation to America, that they should become politically minded and familiarize themselves with candidates on every level. They should prepare themselves for the privilege of voting. He talked about his daughter Luci. "There is a young mother in the White House whose husband is in Vietnam, who has never voted yet, but she knows a great deal about our government and how it works." He said that the young people who have served as government interns during the summer on Capitol Hill have made good citizens.

After addressing the group the President walked among the young people, shaking their hands and urging them to help R.E.A. "light up the world."

During their visit here the R.E.A. guests were briefed by their Senators and Representatives. Some of them said they enjoyed the boat trip on the Potomac to Mount Vernon most of all.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

High Emotional Tension A Cause of Teeth Erosion

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

Dear Dr. Lawrence: My teeth are wearing away at the necks, and deep grooves are forming. What causes this and how can I prevent it? These places are not decayed and don't hurt except when I brush my teeth or eat something hot or cold.

Answer: This is abrasion, or erosion of teeth. These yellow-brown, saucer-shaped, or sometimes knife-edged grooves appear in the necks of teeth along the gum line. They occur in middle life or later, mostly in front teeth, and partocularly the eye

Erosion makes teeth react to various stimuli, such as hot and cold because the protective cover of enamel has worn away, exposing highly sensitive Natural defense of the affected teeth is to build up protective layers of secondary dentin inside the tooth. But the rate of erosion is usually faster than the rebuilding process and therefore eroded areas must be treated before they get deep enough to involve the nerve.

Sometimes it's enough to paint the sensitive areas with fluoride solution. Even though many coats may be necessary, treatment is simple and often quite effective. If this fails, they can be filled or entire tooth crown can be protected with porcelain cap.

Causative factors of erosion are unknown and therefore many causes, from "acid mouth" to grinding teeth at night, are suspect. But the most plausible is mechanical abrasion from too vigorous tooth-brushing.

At least one investigator has a more interesting theory. He claims that erosion of teeth occurs in people who show high emotional tension. He points to high incidence of abrasion of erosion in highstrung executives, and in divorcees.

Dear Dr. Lawrence: I dread having my teeth cleans by the dentist. It hurts so. Is there some way to deaden the pain without getting an injection?

Answer: Teeth prophylaxis should not be painful. If done carefully, pain and bleeding are minimal. However, some patients are supersensitive to any kind of instrumentation in and around the mouth. Sometimes these patients can be helped with application of topical "novocaine." This is a type of local anesthetic that's applied directly to the gums by simply wiping it on and in seconds it reduces pain significantly.

WASHINGTON (ILL.) REPORTER: In Florida, Commissioner Francis Bridges said names of juveniles who commit adult crimes should be publicized. 'When a juvenile commits an adult crime, then he should realize through prompt, positive action what he has done is not to be laughed off as the act of a juvenile,' he said. Stating that no youth should be allowed to hide behind his age in committing vicious acts, the veteran parole commissioner said, 'There has been too much of this shielding from publicity... I think names, including those of the parents, should be used by news media."

When recently he was taken to the veterianrian for a shot, he showed a trait found in some people, too. He became snooty. He had been there before and he assumed none of the other dogs had, so he felt his importance. As he waited he looked all the dogs over as they came in. If he liked them he would be quiet, and give them a friendly look, if he didn't like them he would growl and his master would have to calm him down with a little petting and talking. Cashin has the cool, crisp confidence of a man who knows what he's talking about. If he wants to go on eating, he can't afford to be wrong.

"I'm one of those people," he admits, "who are completely unemployable. I have to run my own show. That's how Dare was born.'

Dare, for those of you who have done nothing to keep Cashin well-fed, is a magazine distributed nationally, as it says in the masthead, "to colleges and universities-fraternity house, dormitories, student unions, libraries, faculty lounges, campus bar-ber shops and military

All of which means that a lot of campus types have a pretty good idea what the Cleveland-based magazine and its publisher are thinking. Not as many as those who know what Playboy's Hugh Hefner is contemplating, but so far Cashin hasn't published his philosophy as both Hefner and chairman Mao have done successfully.

One day Cashin got to wondering what his readers were thinking about cars, clothes, booze, business and, of course, magazines. So, he stuck a survey in the January-February issue. No inducement was offered and it was clearly pointed out that this was strictly a research pro-

If you're thinking of buy-ing some General Motors stock you'll be interested to know that GM is the winner, if you can call it that, in the "business organizations least liked" category with 6.29 per cent of the vote. Dow Chemicals (you remember them, they're the guys with the napalm) ran second with a 4.42 rating. But if you really want to know what students think about business, consider the fact that 36.66 per cent didn't bother to answer the questions.

On the other hand, GM also finished first in the "business third (5.69) with his Black organizations most liked" list Power pal, Stokely Car-with 8.71 per cent while IBM followed with 6.41. This time 27.34 per cent of the students didn't think the question deserved an answer.

So what's the favorite car with the campus crowd? Chevrolet, what else? Chevy claimed a 17.54 margin with Pontiac second at 10.77, all of which goes to show that GM must be doing something

And, as if he didn't have enough to worry about already, President Johnson now has the added distinction of being "the public figure least admired." LBJ got a resounding 31.58 score to win (or lose, as the case may be) with George Wallace second at 9.13. Rap Brown finished third (5.69) with his Black michael, nosing out Charles De Gaulle 3.51 to 3.45 for

The public figure most admired turned out to be New York's Mayor John Lindsay (7.20) with the late Sen. Robert Kennedy second (6.65) and—would you believe?—Sen. Everett Dirksen third. LBJ finished fourth, just ahead of William Buckley, who would rather be right than president.

Education proved to be the field most liked with law and medicine/psychology tied for second. Business (sales, marketing, etc.) was least liked with manual trades and the military close behind.

The survey showed that Richard Nixon was the top choice for president, even if he isn't one of the most admired public figures. Nelson Rockefeller was second with Johnson third.

"We took another survey recently," Cashin revealed, "and when we print the re-sults they'll show Sen. Eugene McCarthy leading Nixon by about 10 per cent."

Cashin insists that there's no such animal as an average reader, but if you construct one using the survey results you'd come up with a single guy of 20 who drinks a lot of beer (mostly the kind that claims to be the best reason in the world to swallow suds), doesn't smoke much (40.71 don't smoke at all) but would like to make it legal to puff on marijuana now and then (56.20).

Our man likes traditional clothes opposed to anything too far out, prefers Scotch when sipping hard stuff, spoils himself with the most popular razor blade, likes the fraternity system (66.12) and hopes to earn between $8,000 and $8.999 his first year out of LACROSSE, Kan. (AP)-Two residences, four house trailers and four businesses were destroyed when a tornado touched down briefly in LaCrosse Tuesday night, but miraculously no one was seriously injured.

Mrs. Norman Hammer and

Mrs. Ronald Wilson were admitted to the Rush County Hospital in LaCrosse with what Dr. Robert McCorkle said were minor injuries and shock.

At least four other persons were treated for lesser injuries and released.

Rush County Sheriff Jack Mendenhall said he saw two funnels touch the ground just east of this central Kansas town of 2,000. Both moved in an eastto-west direction, just opposite from most tornadoes.

One funnel slammed into the Wilson home, demolishing it.

Several mobile homes were damaged. One, according to newsmen on the scene, was bent into the shape of a "U" with the frame landing across Kansas 4 highway atop a motel.

The tornado left a narrow path of destruction on the north side of the highway. The main portion of the city is south of the road.

Power and gas to the immediate area were cut off when the storm knocked off a regulator valve at a Kansas Power and Light Co. building.

The second funnel, Sheriff Mendenhall said, caused no damage, touching down north of the town.

Other funnels were spotted Tuesday night 18 miles northwest of Larned and 10 miles west of Albert and later a tornado was reported 10 miles northeast of Cimarron.

Golf-ball size hail fell at Marysville in northeast Kansas close to the Nebraska border. Hail was also reported in Frankfort and several other Kansas and Nebraska communi-
